Students added to Chipola Academic Wall of Honor

Caitlyn Prichard and MaryBeth Alderman were recently featured in USA Today as part of the All-USA Community College Academic Team.

On April 19, portraits of the students were unveiled at a press conference and will be added to Chipola's Academic Wall of Honor. Prichard was named First Team All-USA and a Guistwhite Scholar. Alderman was named a Coca-Cola Gold Scholar.

Chipola president Dr. Gene Prough, says, "These two young women have perfect academic records and excellent records of serving others. Both of them work in our ACE Lab helping other students succeed in their classes. They come from fine families and I am very proud that they chose to attend Chipola."

Pam Rentz, Chipola English professor and PTK adviser, says, "We are so proud of the accomplishments of these students. Caitlyn and MaryBeth have helped so many people while maintaining excellent grades. We are very proud of their service to the college and to the community."

Caitlyn Prichard of Chipley is majoring in Food and Resource Economics. Last year, she served as the Florida FFA State President.

Caitlyn coordinated the "From Farm to Family" conference, a workshop designed to teach agricultural literacy across the Panhandle. Prichard says, "To do my part in ensuring America never falls into a trap of complacency, risking the food supply of future generations, I began planning the project." She invited FFA and 4-H members from 15 high schools and 12 middle schools, and designed the workshop to raise awareness about the importance of agriculture.

The 2009 valedictorian of Chipley High, says, "The education I have received at Chipola has not only allowed me to become a better student but has also given me many opportunities to develop leadership skills." Caitlyn will be transferring to the University of Florida. Ultimately, she plans to attend law school and become an advocate for the agriculture industry as an agricultural lawyer.

MaryBeth Alderman is the daughter of Jason and B.J. Alderman of Chipley. She was also the Valedictorian of Chipley High. She was named to the All-Florida Academic team and a national Coca-Cola Gold Scholar. She plans to transfer to UF to major in Food Science and Human Nutrition and then on to medical school to specialize in pediatrics. She has been employed as a tutor in the ACE lab and served as Chemistry Lab Assistant at the college.

Alderman coordinated the Conquering Cancer Project which provided 500 toys to pediatric wards in seven area hospitals. Her motivation came from the nine days she spent in the hospital as a middle school student. She says, "I remember the fear, loneliness, frustration, and boredom of spending Christmas and New Year's away from my family and friends because I was stuck in my hospital bed. I also remember a bag of toys and a bear graciously given to me by a local church. The impression this simple gesture left on me will never be forgotten. The things in that bag helped me endure my stay in the hospital."
