

Harrison building dedicated at Chipola College

Chipola College on May 17 marked the completion of “The Chapel at Chipola” donated by the family of Mr. and Mrs. Creshull Harrison, Sr.

Kolmetz Construction was the contractor and Donofro and Associates was the architect for the 2,100 square foot building. The space is equipped with a large video screen and meeting room with stained glass window. The building will be used by students for spiritual meetings and gatherings.

Dave Barkalow, Associate Pastor of the First United Church of Marianna, officially dedicated the building. Dr. Shannon Eads of the First Baptist Church of Marianna pledged both churches’ support for Chipola students. Curt McGinnis, Chipola Baptist Campus Ministry adviser, also spoke.

Creshull Harrison, Sr., is a retired businessman and was the original owner of Harrison Chevrolet which is now Rahal-Miller Chevrolet. The Harrisons are long-time members in the First Methodist Church of Marianna. At the dedication, Harrison said, “We were just the conduit for God. It was only a seed that God planted in my mind that developed into this.”

Chipola president Dr. Gene Prough said, “Chipola is an institution of higher learning where students develop their minds. The Harrisons believe that it’s also important that our students develop character and faith. Through their generosity, students will have a place gather to reflect on the important things in life and to develop relationships that will last long after they have left Chipola.”

Retirees honored at Chipola

Chipola College honored six of its retirees—Bob Brown, Gayle Duncan, June Mays, Dr. Joan Miller, Lisa Shores and Janet Wise—at the recent end-of-year luncheon.

Computer Systems scholarships

Scholarships in the Computer Systems program which includes several industry certifications are available to qualified students for Summer I.

These scholarships cover the entire cost of the six weeks term, including books.

The program and curriculum is designed to afford the student opportunities to earn both A+ and Network+ certifications along with resulting employment in the computer industry. These certifications will let employers know that the student has the skills required to set up and repair personal computers, laptops as well as maintain computer networks.

Students will experience technical training to include a broad overview of broadband technologies, hands-on training in cable fabrication, hardware component installation and configuration.

"This is a tremendous opportunity for students to embark on a challenging and rewarding career in our technologically advanced age" stated Bud Riviere, Chipola's Workforce Dean.

For information, call Dean Giles at 718-2392 or 718-2268.

AA students required to take CAAP

Associate in Arts Degree-seeking students are required to take the Collegiate Assessment of Academic Proficiency (CAAP) Exam to graduate from Chipola.

Students planning to graduate this Summer must register for the exam by May 27 in the Testing Center located in the Student Services Building.

The exam will be administered on June 5, and will last approximately four hours.

CAAP is a set of standardized tests developed to provide an objective assessment of the skills students have learned in general education courses at Chipola. Assessing these skills is a requirement of the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools (SACS), the regional accreditation agency for Chipola.

The CAAP assesses the following five areas: Writing Skills, Reading, Mathematics, Critical Thinking, and Science. Copies of the CAAP Student User Guide, which provides sample questions from each test area, are available at no cost in the Testing Center.

Late Edd and Elizabeth Hill honored at Chipola College

Friends and family of the late Edd and Elizabeth Hill of Grand Ridge gathered at Chipola College on May 13 to recognize the Hill's gift to Chipola College.

In 1991, the Hill's only son Glen was killed in an auto accident. Glen had recently graduated from Chipola and was a student at FSU, a member of the Marching Chiefs, a talented musician, an Eagle Scout and active in his church. Edd Hill's brother Gilford, said, "Glen was just an all around good kid who loved life, but most of all, loved his mother, dad and family."

The establishment of the "Glen Hill Memorial" scholarship was the result of the decision to turn their own personal tragedy into a lasting, positive gift for the benefit of other Grand Ridge students and also a means to give lasting honor to their beloved son. Several students have already graduated from Chipola as a result of this scholarship.

Prior to their deaths, Edd and Elizabeth decided to continue their gift through the establishment of an additional scholarship in their name. The sale of their home and property has already meant $475,000 to the Chipola Foundation. An additional $100,000 to $125,000 is expected when the estate is finally settled.

Half of the Hill's estate will go to the Glen Hill Memorial Scholarship. The other half will be used to establish the Ed and Elizabeth Hill Memorial Scholarship. The scholarship will be awarded to a Jackson County student who has financial need. The award can be used for tuition and books as long as the student maintains a 2.5 GPA.

Gilford said, "Just think about what this will mean for future students. This is a gift which will just keep on giving for generations to come. What a great day this is indeed for the students of Grand Ridge."

The Hills had a passion for education and realized its importance for a meaningful life.

Elizabeth was a school teacher for almost 40 years and never lost her love for her students. The Hills were active in their church and community and took great pleasure in seeing kids from Grand Ridge excel in all areas.

Chipola president Dr. Gene Prough, said, "The Hills loved Chipola, and we are honored that they chose to leave a lasting legacy to the college that will support current and future generations of deserving students."
