Congressman Boyd delivers Health Science grant to CJC

U.S. Congressman Allen Boyd on Tuesday announced the award of a $927,000 grant to help Chipola Junior College recruit and train students in health-related occupations.

The funds will help Chipola identify, support and train area citizens in the health field. The grant is intended to help dislocated, incumbent and adult learners, as well as provide instructional guidance and administrative assistance. Additionally, the grant will provide equipment and supplies in the Health Sciences department over the next two to three years.

Dr. Gene Prough, CJC executive vice president, says, "Chipola is proud to receive this rare allocation from the Department of Labor/Employment & Training Administration, to serve as a demonstration project. This project will show that a small, rural, community college can implement excellent training in health sciences. The grant will provide much-needed resources to fund existing programs while freeing up instructional resources to develop new curriculums for future health science programs."

Chipola currently offers four programs in health sciences: Associate Degree Nursing (which prepares students to become Registered Nurses); Practical Nursing (which prepares students to become Licensed Practical Nurses); Emergency Medical Technician; and Patient Care Assistant.

To learn more about training for a career in Health Sciences, call 718-2296.

Chipola Junior College officials today announced a new partnership with I/Tech Services, Inc., to bring professional Information Technology certification programs to the college. An information session is set for Thursday, Sept. 27 at 7 p.m. in the Continuing Education Conference Center on the Chipola campus. The Chipola-I/Tech partnership includes: Microsoft Certified Systems Engineer (MCSE) Windows 2000 certification program, A+ Certified Computer Technician Program and Network+.

Microsoft (MCSE) certification is a professional credential for aspiring IT professionals who are qualified to analyze the business requirements for system architecture, deploy, install, and configure infrastructure components, and troubleshoot system problems.

The A+ Certified Computer Technician Program, sponsored by the Computing Technology Industry Association (CompTIA), certifies the competency of service technicians in the computer industry. Students learn to upgrade, repair and troubleshoot PCs and much more.

Network+ is a vendor neutral certification that measures the technical knowledge of networking professionals with 18-24 months experience. The certification means that an individual possesses the knowledge needed to configure and install the TCP/IP client. The exam covers a wide range of vendor and product neutral networking technologies that can also serve as a prerequisite for vendor-specific IT certifications. This course offers the basics of networking and helps to prepare students for CompTIA's Network+ examination.

The Chipola/I-Tech program offers conveniently scheduled evening classes to accommodate training for career changers and current IT professionals. Financial Aid is available through the SLM Financial Career Training Loan program for those who qualify.

All enrolled I/Tech students at Chipola will receive a free one-year account to E3—an online learning portal featuring career resources, practice exams, customizable desktop with email, online seminars and office hours with certified instructors. A free tour is available at the I/Tech website at www.itechtraining.com. I/Tech training packages, include online and hybrid training options through I/Tech's partnership with KnowledgeNet.
