Chipola to begin new Performing Arts Center

The new Chipola College Center for the Arts moved one step closer to curtain time Tuesday when the Chipola District Board of Trustees selected the construction firm of Allstate/Southland of Tallahassee to design and build the new $16 million center.

According to Joan Stadsklev, Director of Fine and Performing Arts, the project will indeed be a “center” for the arts for the college community and beyond.

The theatre within the center will seat around 650 with a balcony, and will include dressing rooms, a scene shop and costume shop. An art gallery and reception area is planned, along with a small concession area. The most intriguing feature of the new complex is a “black box” theater especially audiences of 100 or less.

The project will house Chipola’s entire Fine and Performing Arts Department with teaching studios, a recital hall, recording studios and offices.

“This inclusive project will offer strong educational opportunities, facilities, and state-of-the art equipment in theatre, music, visual art, and the graphic arts,” said Stadsklev.

“The public will enjoy the fine and performing artistic work of our students in theatre, music, and art. The space also will provide a strong artistic venue for the annual Artist Series and visiting art exhibits. Audience members and arts patrons will truly enjoy an aesthetically pleasing and total artistic experience from the moment they enter the center grounds through the final curtain.”

Chipola Capital Projects and Contracts Administrator Louy Harris reported that groundbreaking for the 56,000 square foot center is set for November with an estimated 600 days for completion.

Chipola to defend national title

The Chipola Indians begin defense of their national baseball title, Saturday, May 24, at 2 p.m. (CST) in Grand Junction, CO.

The Indians will face Connors State (OK), the winner of the South Central District. The tournament runs May 24-31.

All Chipola games will be broadcast on WJAQ-100.9, and are available at www.chipola.edu. Tournament information is available at www.jucogj.org

The Indians successfully defended their Florida state baseball title with a 6-0 win over Manatee CC in the 2008 championship on May 13 in Winter Haven. Chipola’s back-to-back state championships were the first since Central Florida CC won consecutive titles in 1997 and 1998.

The Indians won five straight games in the tournament including a 10-2 win over Pensacola in seven innings on May 12, a 13-9 win over Manatee on May 11, an 8-7 win over St. Petersburg on May 10, and an 11-3 win over Seminole on May 8.

Coach Jeff Johnson was named FCCAA Coach of the Year for 2008. In 12 seasons at the helm, Coach Johnson’s Indians have made it to the state tournament nine times with five appearances in the title game. Chipola won the 2008 state tourney and captured the school’s first-ever national tourney last season.

Seven Indians were named to the FCCAA All Tournament Team including Carlos Moncrief, who was named Most Valuable Player in the tournament. Moncrief swatted a three-run homer in the state championship game and had eight RBI’s and 11 hits in the tournament. Chipola’s other All-Tourney selections are: Marc Bourgeois, Daniel Jones, Einar Atencio, Edmond Sparks, Ryan Chaffee and Matt Jackson.

“This is what’s known as a “design-build” project which brings an architect and contractor together to complete the project from conception to completion within the budget.”

Theater Director Charles Sirmon says, “This is the culmination of five years of planning and dreaming. The larger theater will enable us to stage musicals and accommodate large crowds. The size of the theater will also enhance our educational theater outreach program so that more students will be able to enjoy theater.”

“I’m very excited about the black box theater which will give students the opportunity to work on a smaller stage and produce their own work.” Sirmon says the technical side of theater also will be greatly enhanced with state-of-the-art systems for rigging, hanging, lighting and set construction facilities.

The college has enlisted the services of Theatre Consultant Robert Lorelli of New York to assist with the project.

President Dr. Gene Prough, said, “This will be a showplace for the performing arts in the Panhandle of Florida. We want to thank Rep. Marti Coley and the rest of our legislative delegation for supporting this project for our students and community.”

The Chipola Theater is a busy place with an estimated 10,000 visitors per year. In addition to three annual college theater productions, the theater also is home to four annual artist series events and other performances for thousands of area school children.
