

New Orleans Blue Serenaders slated for Chipola Artist Series

Orange Kellin's New Orleans Blue Serenaders will play the Chipola Theater Monday, Nov. 18. The Serenaders are replacing the Manhattan Rhythm Kings, who cancelled their Fall tour and a Chipola Artist Series show to take a gig on Broadway.

The Serenaders offer authentic New Orleans traditional Jazz direct from the Broadway production of One Mo' Time. Arranger and clarinetist Orange Kellin brings the trio of hot New Orleans musicians, piano, clarinet and percussion, to play the elegant, thrilling and undeniably infectious Big Easy sounds. Joining Orange and his trio is the creator and director of One Mo' Time, Vernel Bagneris, acting, singing and dancing irresistible, razzle-dazzle, show stopping numbers from that show plus many more authentic, traditional selections.

Born in Sweden, Orange Kellin has become a premiere clarinetist of the real New Orleans sound, having played with many of the Preservation Hall bands as well as touring and recording with Louis Armstrong, Earl Hines, Teddy Wilson, Jabbo Smith and numerous other legends. He is featured on the Oscar-nominated original cast album of One Mo' Time.

Louisiana born Vernel Bagneris received an Obie Award and Outer Critics Circle Award as the author and legend, Jelly Roll Morton. He starred, with Steve Martin and Bernadette Peters, in the musical film Pennies from Heaven and is now heard regularly in the NPR jazz radio series, Live from the Landing with the Jim McCullum Jazz Band in San Antonio.

Two more events are set for the Chipola Artist Series. Soprano Alison England, hits the CJC stage Jan. 21. Boston Brass, Coach Ryan Cross is optimistic about his team's chances. "I have high aspirations for this team. Entering my fourth season, I think we have finally put together a team that has the talent and all the ingredients to not only compete for a Panhandle Conference title, but also on the national level," said Cross.

The Indians open the season Nov. 1

Chipola announces early registration for spring classes

Current Chipola Junior College students may register for the Spring semester November 4-7. Current students are those who were enrolled in Fall 2002.

New student application deadline for Spring classes is Dec. 6. Returning student registration and new student testing is Jan. 2. New student registration is Jan. 3, with classes beginning Jan. 6.

Chipola offers hundreds of college credit courses during the day and evening, and also through independent study. The college offers the Associate in Arts (AA) degree that guarantees acceptance to Florida's 10 public universities. Chipola also offers several Associate in Science (AS) and Workforce Development programs that provide training for high wage jobs.

Chipola's University Center provides opportunities for students to pursue a number of bachelor's degree and advanced programs on the CJC campus. CJC will begin its own bachelor's degree in Secondary Education in the Fall of 2003.

For information, call the CJC Registration Office at 718-2211.

Alabama and Georgia students receive tuition break

Alabama and Georgia students will enjoy a reduction in tuition at Chipola Junior College beginning Spring 2003.

The CJC Board of Trustees recently approved a measure to charge students from the two states only one dollar extra per credit hour for college tuition and 90 cents extra for workforce fees. Current Chipola Junior College students may register for the Spring semester November 4-7. Current students are those who were enrolled in Fall 2002.

New student application deadline for Spring classes is Dec. 6. Returning student registration and new student testing is Jan. 2. New student registration is Jan. 3, with classes beginning Jan. 6.

Florida's high out-of-state tuition—more than triple the in-state rate—has prevented nearby out-of-state students from considering Chipola in the past. CJC's current tuition for Florida residents is $52.50 per semester hour. Out-of-state students have been charged $162 per hour. With the change, Alabama and Georgia residents will now pay $53.50 per semester hour. Students who want to take advantage of the savings will be required to complete a residency affidavit, available in the Admissions and Registration Office, prior to registering for classes.

Chipola president Dr. Dale O'Daniel said, "This new fee is really intended to help students from counties on the Florida border who may actually have a shorter drive to Chipola than to a college in their own state."

The president indicated that the new fee structure does have the potential to positively affect enrollment in public service programs like fire-fighting, corrections and law enforcement which may not be available in all areas of Alabama and Georgia.

O'Daniel said the college also would experience some savings on athletes' tuition. Some 10 CJC student-athletes are from Alabama and Georgia.

All community colleges with districts bordering on another state were given the option of reducing out-of-state fees. Chipola, Florida Community College at Jacksonville, Lake City, North Florida, Okaloosa-Walton, Pensacola and Tallahassee community colleges are affected by the change.

SGA to sponsor seminar, “Cultural Challenges to Achieving Health”

SGA will sponsor an informative seminar entitled, “Cultural Challenges to Achieving Health: Are Men and Women Different?”

The seminar will be held Wednesday, October 30 at 10 a.m. in Jackson Hall, Building Z, Room 116.

Author/Lecturer Jennifer Brodie will be the presenter.

Brodie explains, “In this presentation I examine how our cultural values directly affect how we, as men and women, perceive and manage our health. I explore the differences and similarities between men and women from childhood through middle age, specifically with respect to prevailing attitudes towards food, body image, and health.

Through the mass media, as well as through our personal experience, we are indoctrinated with a perspective of our bodies that is often contrary to wellness. By the time we are adults, many of us have become more reactive than proactive. Most adults know exactly what to do in order to lead healthy lives, but we do not do it because we have not learned to value health in a biological sense.

For example, both teen boys and girls experience weight-related health issues, but the ways they respond to their perceived problems are divergent. Boys often seek to grow bigger, sometimes through the use of steroids, whereas girls try to become smaller, sometimes in the context of eating disorders. The goals are totally different, but the essential problem is the same. Both sexes misunderstand what it means to be truly healthy, and value their bodies for form more than function.

With a powerpoint presentation that highlights relevant statistics and uses media images taken from popular magazines and web sites, I outline and explore the cultural challenges both men and women face towards leading healthy lives. I also present steps each of us can take to confront destructive cultural influences in order to maximize physical and emotional well-being.”
