CJC expands learning beyond the classroom

Chipola provides a variety of academic experiences that reinforce and expand student learning beyond the classroom.

“We’ve always had a strong reputation for academics and good classroom teachers,” CJC President Dr. Dale O’Daniel said. “It’s amazing that a small school like ours can create such excellent learning experiences for our students. We provide many leadership and social activities, but some of our most important opportunities exist solely to expand student learning.”

During the past decade, 355 graduates of district high schools have participated in the CJC Honors program. Participating students attend a weekly Honors Seminar. They also register for Honors courses in which teachers guide their learning beyond the regular scope of course requirements and assist them with special research projects. Students have the opportunity to network with professionals and to gain a competitive edge for limited access programs and scholarships. Acceptance is competitive and requires a minimum high school GPA of 3.5 and an ACT score of 23.

Phi Theta Kappa is the international honor society for two-year colleges. Students with outstanding academic achievement are invited to join. In addition to community service projects, members also follow an Honors Study Topic that is assigned to all chapters of PTK. The Chipola chapter has received several honors including the Fellowship Hallmark Award, awarded to the top ten chapters internationally and the Florida Region Most Distinguished Chapter Award. Chipola has also been recognized as having a Five-Star Chapter — the highest recognition given for chapter achievements. PTK also hosts an annual Leadership Conference for high school juniors.

Each film is followed by an analysis and discussion session. During these sessions, students contrast film content to historical record and apply social theory. Science Seminars expand the science and math curriculum by bringing guest speakers to campus to share their experiences. The seminars are planned and coordinated by the CJC Science Club, consisting of about 25 mostly science majors.
