

Chipola dinner to honor the late John Ratzlaff

Friends and family of the late John Ratzlaff are planning a celebration in his memory on Saturday, Aug. 16, at the National Guard Armory in Marianna.

Some 33 of Ratzlaff's friends are putting together the John Alan Ratzlaff Memorial Scholarship Dinner. CJC Publications coordinator Evelyn Ward is the chair of the event which is sponsored by the Chipola Appreciation Club.

Business/cocktail attire is the dress for the evening which will feature a social hour, prime rib dinner and dancing to the sounds of national recording artists, The Embers.

Proceeds from the evening will endow a Chipola baseball scholarship in Ratzlaff's honor. Ratzlaff played on the Chipola baseball team in 1973. After graduating from law school at Ole Miss, he began his law career in Marianna. Ratzlaff served on the board of directors of the Chipola Appreciation Club and as the club's president in 1994-95. He chaired the club's annual Wild Game Dinner that helped amass a sizable endowment for the college's athletic programs. He was rarely seen without his Chipola baseball cap.

Auburn basketball coach Cliff Ellis, also a Chipola alumnus, is the featured speaker for event. Ellis is married to Ratzlaff's sister, Carolyn.

Ratzlaff's former law partner Robert Trammell spearheaded the event after contacting many of John's classmates and friends. He said, "John loved Chipola and so many of friends were excited about helping Chipola in his honor. I think he would be proud of what we're doing here to establish a legacy in his name."

Chipola baseball coach Jeff Johnson said, "John provided input on the design of our baseball complex. He said he wanted our stadium to be a mini Camden Yards. I know that he would be very proud of our new facility. The Ratzlaff Endowment will be a big boost for our scholarship program as we try to recruit the very best student-athletes to Chipola."

Chipola president Dr. Gene Prough said, "Chipola depends on the support of alumni and friends to maintain quality academic and athletic programs. This event is important as we honor a fine alumnus and raise money to help future students."

Tickets are $150 per couple. Tables of seven couples also are available for $1,050.

For tickets, call Sandra Harrell at 718-2302.
