Rumors of a sellout in CJC theatre

Tickets are going fast for "Rumors," the Neil Simon comedy that opens Oct. 18 in the Chipola Junior College Theater.

Thursday's opening performance is expected to sell out early. Evening performances are set for Oct. 18, 19 and 20, with an Oct. 21 matinee. Tickets—$7 adults and $5 students—are available in the CJC Business Office.

Simon delivers an evening of fun with this "farce of ridiculous consequence." The rib-tickling begins when four couples arrive at an anniversary party for the Deputy Mayor of New York only to find one half of the honorary couple missing, and the other half shot in the ear lobe! Discovering uncooked food in the kitchen, company is left to fend (and cook!) for themselves. The first guest to arrive, his lawyer, decides on a cover-up, which gets progressively more difficult to sustain as the other guests arrive and nobody can remember who has been told what about whom. Faced with explosions, gunshots, and an embarrassing collision of cover stories, each couple contributes its share of hilarious hijinx to this rousing comedy.

"Not only side-splitting, but front and back-splitting" is how theater director Charles Sirmon describes "I think folks are really going to love this one. It's just hilarious."

The cast includes: Sharon Floyd of Dothan as Chris Gorman, Chris Manasco of Dothan as Ken Gorman, Casi Parmer of Sneads as Claire Ganz, Christopher Bishop of Cottondale as Lenny Ganz, Arthur Obar of Graceville as Ernie Cusack, Tiffany Nichols of Marianna as Cookie Cusack, Ben Ayres of Wurzburg, Germany as Glenn Cooper, Erin Davis of Old Orchard Beach, Maine as Cassie Cooper, Trey McGowan of Bonifay as Officer Welch and Amber Williams of Graceville as Officer Pudney.

Charles Sirmon, CJC Theatre Coordinator, will direct the show with help from a behind the scenes crew including: Mario Gonzales of Marianna, stage manager; Jennifer Burgess of Westville, lights director; Trey McGowan of Bonifay, props director; and Jason Cross of Donalsonville, GA, technical director.

Wilson tapped for Faculty/Admin Award

Carolyn Wilson is the recipient of the October Faculty/Administrator of the Month Award at Chipola Junior College.

Wilson has taught music appreciation, music skills, applied piano, class piano courses at Chipola since 1968.

Joan Stadskev, CJC director of Fine and Performing Arts, said, "It is a pleasure to have a person of Carolyn's musical caliber teaching in this department. She is a joy to work with."

An anonymous colleague who nominated Wilson for the award said, "I am personally inspired and motivated by her characteristic sweet spirit, professional attitude, and undying loyalty to Chipola. I am always impressed with her desire to make sure every student understands the concept she is trying to communicate."

Wilson serves as the accompanist for the CJC Chamber Chorus. She has worked with hundreds of elementary school music students and their parents in the annual "Music through Performance" program which she developed. She also is the Piano Chairperson for the Florida Community College Activities Association's annual Winter Music

Symposium that includes competitions, workshops, and masterclasses for piano instructors and students. She also maintains a private piano studio for students of all ages.

An alumnus of Shorter College, she earned a Master's of Music degree from Northwestern University. She presently is a doctoral candidate at the University of South Carolina at Columbia. Her dissertation topic, "Attitudes, Training and Background Characteristics of Teachers of Older Adults as Beginning Pianists" combines the research of piano pedagogy with gerontology, specifically, teaching beginning piano to older adults (60-plus).

Wilson is active in the First Presbyterian Church of Marianna. She enjoys reading and horseback riding. Her latest project is the restoration of her father's Laguna Beach home. Wilson has a married daughter Cecily, a Chipola graduate, who works as a vocational rehabilitation counselor.
