

This Associate of Arts degree program is designed for students who plan to earn a degree in Health Care Management at Florida A & M University.

For additional program information, visit the FAMU website.

The primary role of the health services administrator is to work with the business side of health care. People within the health care industry with associate in science degrees in areas such as nursing, respiratory therapy, radiologic technologies, medical laboratory technology, dental hygiene, and others may find this program providing a migration path from the clinical side of the health care industry to the leadership side.

For more information, please visit The Occupational Outlook Handbook website.

The courses listed on this guide are not to be construed as a contract between the student and Chipola or the University. Course requirements may change each year. You are encouraged to work closely with your advisor.
