This Associate in Arts degree program is designed for students who plan to transfer and earn the Bachelor of Science degree in Social Science Interdisciplinary at Florida State University Panama City Campus.

This program provides a broad background in public affairs, such as urban studies, public service, law and society, and environmental studies.

For additional program information, visit the FSU website, program description, and academic map.

Possible job titles for social science interdisciplinary majors include social studies teacher, management trainee, legislative aide/analyzer, research analyst, probation officer, public administrator, assistant planner, federal service worker.

For more information, please visit the Occupational Outlook Handbook website.

While academic advisors, faculty and staff provide significant academic planning and related assistance to students, completion of all degree requirements, and the process of monitoring progress to that end, is ultimately the responsibility of the student.
