Study Sheet on Internet Resources

Read pages 195 - 229 to find the answers to the following.

1. The Internet is an __________ network, that is a ______ of ________.
2. The method of transferring information from computer to computer is called TCP/IP, which stands for ____ ____.
3. Each computer on the Internet has its own unique identity or address called an ____ _____. It can also have a ______ ________.
4. The _____ is expressed as a ____ ___ _____ and the _____ _____ is a series of _____ ________.
5. Real time Internet information exchange among people is known as ________________.
6. Chat opportunities are also available through ________.
7. ISPs is an abbreviation for ____________________.
8. A T1 line carries information at a speed of ________ bits per second.
9. A ________ is a hardware device connecting the computer to a copper phone line.
10. An __________ card must be installed if you are connected to a fiber optic cable.
11. The abbreviation LAN stands for ________________.
12. The most common format for interpersonal telecommunication is __________ _________.
13. Special software, called a ________, is required to connect to and interpret the protocol used by Web servers.
14. The ________ is the first page you encounter when you first connect to a specific Web address.
15. The language of the internet is ____________.

16. ________ or _________ are applications of electronic mail where the user sends mail to an address where it is relayed to a list of readers.

17. Three popular browsers are ________, ________, and ____________.

18. ________ are located in browsers to store the location of valued sites.

19. ____________ is based on a Web index or directory.

20. ________ is based on the use of a search engine, an on-line database that contains information about a large number of Web sites.

21. The electronic equivalent of the bulletin board is called a ________, ________, or ________.

22. Browsers incorporate __________ which are special kinds of software developed to function within another software application.

23. When you are searching for a phrase, you should put the words in ________.

24. To narrow the search by choosing additional words use a _____ between the keywords.

25. To narrow the search by excluding certain words from the search use a ________ between the keywords.

What do the following URL endings represent?

26. org

27. gov

28. edu

29. com

30. Name three categories of Web resources.