

This Associate in Arts degree program includes courses required for those students who expect to transfer and earn a degree in Forest Resources and Conservation or Natural Resource Conservation in the College of Agriculture at the University of Florida.

For additional program information, visit the UF website and academic map.

The School of Forest Resources and Conservation has several majors. Employment opportunities exist in forest resources management, urban forestry, international and agro-forestry, forest science, ecotourism (educational, recreational, and financial aspects of nature-based, leisure-time opportunities), landscape ecology, computer information systems (links computer based information technologies with the management of natural resources), environmental pre-law, wetland ecosystems, and environmental education (educators with public or private agencies which do not require a formal teaching certificate).

For more information, please visit the Occupational Outlook Handbook website.

While academic advisors, faculty and staff provide significant academic planning and related assistance to students, completion of all degree requirements, and the process of monitoring progress to that end, is ultimately the responsibility of the student.

ACADEMIC PLAN: Associate in Arts Degree

Forest Resources & Conservation

Transfer Institution: University of Florida

Code 1091 Program Length 60 credits

Entrance Requirements

A minimum GPA of 2.0 is required with a minimum GPA of 2.5 in critical tracking courses listed below. The program normally begins in the Summer I term at UF. Students who begin in the fall or spring terms may be at a disadvantage academically and may find it necessary to extend their residence at UF because of course sequencing. Check with UF for most current information.

Admission Deadline: Check UF website.

All first time in college (Fall 2014 and beyond) students are required to successfully complete two years of the same foreign language in high school or two semesters of the same foreign language at the college level before the associate degree is awarded. Home School students must demonstrate competency through competency testing.

All students entering UF are required to possess a personal computer. Check this UF website (<http://www.circa.ufl.edu/computer.htm>) for a link to specific computer hardware and software configurations for this major.
